What is the Student Aid Report?
The Student Aid Report (SAR) summarizes the information you provided on your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). See the example on the next page for details.

A Data Release Number (DRN) You may need this number if you choose to allow your college to change certain information on your FAFSA form.

B Expected Family Contribution (EFC) The number used by colleges to calculate the amount of federal student aid you are eligible to receive. Your EFC is not the amount of money your family will have to pay.

C Application Status There may be a note that you have been selected for verification. Verification is the process a college uses to confirm that the data reported on your FAFSA form is accurate. Don’t worry! This is pretty routine — it happens to about 30% of applicants. You will need to complete a verification form that you get from the college financial aid office. Do this as soon as possible or risk losing aid.

D Information Summary Review all of the information listed.

E Selective Service Registration Male students must register to be eligible for federal student aid.

F List of Schools You could list up to 10 schools on your FAFSA, although they are not all listed here. Log into fafsa.gov to confirm all of the schools you will apply to are listed. If you are also applying for the Oregon Promise grant, you must list at least one Oregon community college.

What do I need to do with the SAR?
You should review your Student Aid Report carefully to make sure it’s correct and complete. If any of the information is incorrect or incomplete, make changes as soon as possible. If you don’t have any changes, just keep it for your records.

When will I get my SAR?
3 days to 3 weeks after submitting the FAFSA, depending on how you submitted it and whether you provided a valid e-mail.

How will I get my SAR?
If you provided a valid email address, you’ll receive an email from noreply@FAFSA.gov with instructions on how to access an online copy. Otherwise, you’ll receive the SAR via mail. You can always log in with your FSA ID at fafsa.gov to view the SAR.

More questions?

Note: There is no SAR if you submitted the Oregon Student Aid Application (ORSAA). Sign in online to review your information and make sure it is complete and correct.
Dear JOHN SMITH,

Your Student Aid Report (SAR) Acknowledgement summarizes the information you submitted on your 2020-2021 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

Application Status (review the checked boxes)

✓ Your FAFSA appears to be complete. Review the data on pages 2 and 3. We may have assumed certain information to calculate your eligibility for federal student aid. We printed any assumptions we made and the word "assumed" for the items on the back of this page. If you need to make corrections, you can go to https://fafsa.gov and use your FSA ID to access your information or you can contact the financial aid office at one of the schools you listed on your application for assistance. The school(s) listed on your FAFSA will receive your information.

Federal Student Aid Eligibility (review the checked boxes)

The data submitted on your FAFSA is used to calculate your Expected Family Contribution (EFC), which is 000000.

The EFC is not the amount of money that your family must provide. Rather, you should think of the EFC as an index that colleges use to determine how much financial aid you would receive if you were to attend their school. Financial aid may include grants (free funds that do not have to be repaid), work-study (paid part-time employment), and/or low-interest loans (borrowed funds that must be repaid). This award information will vary from college to college because the cost of attending each is different. Please note that your EFC is subject to change if you update or correct your FAFSA. For more information about the EFC and other sources of aid, go to StudentAid.gov.

✓ Based on your EFC it appears that you may be eligible for a Federal Pell Grant of up to $6195, provided you have not met or exceeded the lifetime limit established for the Federal Pell Grant program. You may also be eligible for other grants, work-study opportunities, and low-interest student loans. Your Financial Aid Administrator (FAA) will determine what types of aid and how much you are eligible to receive.

✓ We sent your information to other federal agencies through computer matching programs to verify your eligibility for federal student aid and there appears to be an issue with the information provided on your application. You can review information about these issues by going to https://fafsa.gov and selecting "View or Print your Student Aid Report (SAR)" after logging in. You must work with your financial aid office to resolve any data matching issues before we can determine if you are eligible to receive federal student aid.

✓ Unless you are completing the verification process, it may be too late for you to make corrections or give us any more information this year. If you are completing verification and you need to correct your information, contact the Financial Aid Administrator (FAA) at your school for assistance. We must have your corrections no later than September 11, 2021.

You should keep this SAR Acknowledgement for your records!
